TCO GIVES $2,000 TO HILLTOP FOOD BANK

Thanks to a $2,000 gift from The Tacoma Community organization (TCO), Christmas will not be "the worst of times" for needy Hilltop families. On Dec. 8, TCO presented a check for $2,000 to the Hilltop Food Bank to help make Christmas a little merrier for these unfortunate people.

The check, made payable to a local wholesale grocer, will be used to purchase baskets with all the traditional Christmas foods for over 100 deserving families and individuals.

The Tacoma Community Organization is a coalition of grass roots neighborhood groups working toward a common goal. Its philosophy is that people can and should help themselves and each other whenever possible.

TCO's main thrust is to change the inequitable, and often degenerative, conditions that exist in the low and moderate income areas of the city.

Membership in TCO is open to any bonafide neighborhood group that believes in and will work toward attaining the goals of the organization through legal democratic processes.

Additional information concerning TCO may be obtained by calling 627-3191.

Miner Demands Apology

Phil Miner , Associate Dean of Admissions at Pacific Lutheran University, wrote a letter to Mayor Parker echoeing the demand of the Black Community Leaders for the Mayor to recall 4 Tacoma Housing Authority Board members for refusal to discharge their duty.

Miner who was called a creep and told to drop dead by THA Board member Lily Piva, feels that no matter what the outcome of the Mayor's decision. Ms. Piva owes him a public apology. However, Piva thinks Miner sould apologize first because he supposedly interrupted the board hearings. She also felt he had no facts on which to base his comments, reported the local media. Miner is a very bright young man in the community. He serves on theTacoma Urban League Board of Directors is a member of the NAACP Executive Board. He tries to help the young people in our community Black and White. He has always spoken out for the disadvantaed. He has been a credit to this community. According to People who know him.

SUBURBAN HOUSING DISCRIMINATION STRONG

by Vernon E. Jordan, Jr.

The Census Bureau recently reported a sharp increase in the number of blacks living in the suburbs over the past decade.

That bare fact has led to all sorts of misinterpretations that could damage black aspirations to equal housing opportunities. The most obvious, of course, is that suburban housing discrimination is becoming a thing of the past. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Despite stories in the media about the growing integration of the suburbs, suburban housing discrimination continues strong. An important new study by Robert W. Lake, "The New Suburbanites: Race and Housing in the Suburbs," states:

"The suburbanization of blacks is being accompanied by the increasing territorial differentiation of suburbia along racial lines--and not by integration."

Behind the raw data indicating more blacks in suburbia lurks the ugly reality of a dual housing market and the segregation of blacks to predominately black suburban neighborhoods.

The rise of black suburbanites is largely restricted to communities where significant numbers of blacks are already resident and from which whites are moving away.

For black homeowners, this imposes not only the defeat of prospects for healthy, integrated, multi-racial communities, but real costs to individuals.

As Professor Lake says: "suburbanization for blacks connotes constrained residential choice, a restricted and less efficient housing search process, and limited opportunities for housing equity and wealth accumulation."

in general, the black move to the suburbs, superficially so impressive in its numbers, is restricted to older towns bordering on heavily black central cities. Whites, by contract, are tending to move from those older suburbs to new growth areas.

Black penetration into predominately white suburbs is typically limited to the few whose incomes and professional status is higher even than their white neighbors.

So racism is alive and well in America's suburbs. Many whites retain racial attitudes that cause them to react to black neighbors with alarm. And their prejudice is fed by realtors who continue to steer whites and blacks to segregated housing and away from integrated suburban neighborhoods

The Fair Housing Act, passed in 1968, was supposed to do away with such discrimination. But experience shows it has not been effective in overcoming pervasive housing discrimination.

Congress made an effort last year to beef up the law's enforcement provisions, but those changes were not passed. With an administration and a Congress hostile to civil rights and wed to free market theories that don't apply to minority home-buyers and seller it is doubtful whether the law will now be strengthened.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development needs more power to enforce the law.

Cities In A New time Of Crisis

By M. Carl Holman, President
NATIONAL URBAN COALITION

In many ways this is the most critical time for cities, for the poor, for minorities, since the Urban Coalition was founded in the midst of the urban riots in 1967.

Most of what was largely taken for granted by many Americans in the earliest days of the Coalition has now been called in question. That includes guiding principles, priorities, programs. The role of government, particularly, has undergone a radical sea change.

Minorities and the poor are pretty much out of favor and basic guarantees which offered them some protection are in danger of disappearing along with the deadwood of bureaucratic waste and red-tape. Many of those who were about to get a leg up on the job and educational ladder find the rungs giving away underfoot. Further up that now shaky ladder, a good many middle class Americans, who once felt secrue and generous, now turn inward, holding on for dear life against the threats of economic uncertainty and the fear and the ugly reality of violence.

Virginia Taylor's Outside Looking In

To the Editor:

I would like to bring to your attention my personal observation of basketball officiating in the Tacoma-Pierce County area of the men's teams.

I have been a member of the Western Washington Basketball Official's Association for over 10 years. During these ten plus years, I have observed racism in many ways.

I am surprised that our community and schools have let this practive continue for such a long period of time.

If we continue in this way we must be part quilty for depriving some or maybe all of our students from a total education. I believe that education can be obtained in many other ways. Some of these are by demonstration, traveling, formal class settings and role models set by others. The black students and spectators are being deprived of seeing any or very few black basketball officials as models. Therefore, they may consciously or subconsciously believe that in order to become a basketball official you must be another color than black (especially to officiate at the championship levels.) I firmly believe that the reason why blacks are not being assigned basketball games is because racism is evident in the assigning procedures. When a black official joins this totally white administrative organization, they are often discouraged and finally quit; due to lack of assignments or at the very best a few bad assignments after 2-3 years of waiting. Secondly, the coaches of each team sends in an evaluation of the officials and the coach can also cross off any official he does not want to come to the school as their official. Before this season, we have not had any black coaches, as head basketball coaches that the WWBOA serves. This year we have only one. Coaches may also consciously or sub-consciously evaluate an official on the basis of the black student who seldom, if ever, sees black officials.

The black officials have a difficult time getting good game asignments, even if it is fairly based on the present evaluation system of the WWBOA. The coaches are white, the assigning secretary is white, the administrative board officials are white. The route to be assigned a game is 99% white constructed, which indicates the blacks have not been accepted into the WWBOA.

At no time I ,or will I ever, ask to accept an official not qualified to do the job. I am saying that there are still some black officials (that have lived and suffered through this racism in the WWBOA), that are not only capable of officiating local high school basketball, but championships as well.

We must find a way to assign officials on the basis of what he/she has to offer concerning the sport of basketball and officiating, and not their color or race, family ties, friends (who drink and have pizza together or no other reason except their ability to officiate basketball) or for any sport for that matter.

We as educators are suppose to represent all races of people. I have a difficult time trying to understand why blacks are not included in all aspects of our educational processes.

Basketball officials are not the only contracted public service organization that have partially closed the doors on blacks. WE have been watching this racism for sometime now and said or done nothing about its elimination.

It has well been proven that unless some outside restrictions are made, these social racial practices will continue to be used.

Board of Commissioners
Tacoma housing Authority

Dear Commissioners:

We are aware of some of the difficulties that the Tacoma Housing Authority faces. All across the nation the custodians of public trusts find themselves confronted with the need to re-evaluate. They are often compelled to chart new curses of action in view of changing economic conditions. In our opinion there is much to be gained by acting in an open deliberate maner and tapping the wealth of knowlege wich exists outside of the formal internal aparatus of any working organization.
In the spirit of moving positively toward a better future we would recomend the following:

1. That Tacoma Housing Authority develop a priority setting process which provides a method for public input and review of major plans and shifts in directions;(in the priority process)

2. The Board of Commissioners be reconstituted in a manner which insures tenants representation;

3. That each residential complex be given a sub area counsil through which to address grievances and interface with the development as well as implementation of overall policy and programs;

4. That Tacoma Housing Authority hold hearings throughout its domain at each residential component to ascertain sources of race conflict and develop programs of palliative action and;

5. That the outside investigation begun by Tacoma Police and endorsesd by selected commissioners be brought publicly to some definitive close in a way which does not leave unfounded impressions that certain individuals are involved in criminal activity thereby tarnishing their reputations and jeopardizing their career futures, and;

6. That Tacoma Housing Authority examine, using outside authorities if necessary, the total scope of its responsibility (looking at both program and fiscal issues) as a foundation for making significant change decisions such as the recent reorganization, and;

7. Finally, that Tacoma Housing Authority in view of potential procedural and policy errors attendant to recent budget decisions, reinstate those positions which were deleted from the budget, compensate the occupnts for time lost and then take action in accordance with established policy and procedure consistent with the best iterest of all concerned parties.

The representatives of the organizations listed stand willing and ready to have an open, h onest dialogue on these recommendations. We strongly feel mature adults may differ in the process but our goal and your responsibility is the same.....Fairness and equity for residents and employees under the jurisdiction of the Tacoma Housing Authority.

Sincerely,

Thomas Dixon

VA BENEFITS

The Veterans Administration today reminded former servicemen and women that awareness of VA burial benefits can often spare the family of a deceased veteran anxiety and financial hardship immediately following the veteran's death.

Interment in a national cemetery is available, for example, to veterans discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. The eligible veteran's spouse and minor children, and, under certain conditions, unmarried adult children, are eligible also. Some national cemeteries have no remaining space, however.

VA will furnish a headstone or marker to memorialize a veteran or mark the grave of a veteran buried in a national, state or private cemetery. VA will also provide markers to elegible dependents interred in a national or state veterans' cemetery.

Recent legislation broadened eligibility for memorial headstones or markers. Under the new authority, VA may provide these services to all veterans whose remains have not been recovered or identified. This includes those who were buried at sea - whether by the veteran's own choice or otherwise, those whose bodies were donated to science, and those who were cremated and the ashes scattered without burying any portion of the ashes.

The law also requires a memorial section be set aside in a national cemetery if one does not already exist and where land is available.

VA also provides up to $300 toward the burial expenses of eligible veterans and an additional $150 as a plot or interment allowance if the veteran is not buried in a national cemetery or other government cemetery.

Effective Oct. 1, 1981, the burial allowance, previously available to all wartime veterans, was limited by public law to veterans eligible for VA pension or compensation and to those who die in VA medical facilities. The plot allowance, not affected by the new law, is available to all veterans who served during war periods.

If the veterans' death is service connected, VA will pay an amount not to exceed $1,100 in lieu of the usual burial and plot allowance.

VA will also provide:

★ an American flag upon request for use in covering a casket;

★ a reimbursement for part of the cost of a headstone or marker bought and placed on the grave of a veteran. The current amount is $63.00, the average cost of headstones purchased by VA; and,

★ Presidential memorial certificates expressing our nation's grateful recognition of the deceased veteran's service which bear the signature of the President.

In addition to VA burial benefits, veterans and their dependents may be eligible for a lump sum monetary death benefit provided by the Social Security Administration. Local SSA offices have details.

The private sector is offered inducements which somehow fail to induce (witness Wall Street). In some quarters the private sector is expected to span an unpresecented gap in services and resources. The response has predictably been uneven--giving both optimists and pessimists something to be self-righteous about.

Cities that were on the rocky road to coping with some of their fiscal and revitalization needs now find themselves saddled with new obligations and drastically diminished resources. While physical infrastructures collapse and economists argue, Mayors and city councils pare services to the bone and struggle to placate increasingly irate citizens looking for answers to those problems unceremoniously dumped on the steps of City Hall by Washington.

A more positive development is that luckier urban communities are finding a new cadre of volunteers from business and civic groups, along with some admittedly atypical individuals, who bring to large cities some badly needed skills--and a touch of that communal spirit which romanticists would have us believe animated most small towns in the past.

Scriptures

Psalms 121

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. He will not suffer thy foot to be moved; he that keepeth thee will not slumber. The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand. The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night. The Lord shall preserve thee from evil; he shall preserve thy soul. The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore.

Fleming Receives Human Rights Award

Washington State Sen. George Fleming (D-37th District) and five other Seattle-area indiviudals active in the drive to secure and maintain human rights were awarded on December 10 with a "Certificate of Appreciation" from the Seattle Chapter of the United Nations Association.

Fleming, who was instrumental in the passing of the human rights-oriented Malicious Harassment Bill in the State Legislature, was honored with the award because, according to the United Nations Association, "He has directed his attention to the forgotten areas of human needs and has been sensitive to problems of the family."

The Democratic Caucus Chairperson in the State SEnate, Fleming said, "It is a great honor to receive this recognition at a time when human rights is being shoved to the back burner both on the naitonal and at the state level."

Fleming added that "we need more than ever to express and protect the human dignities of the individual. It is a tragedy that many of the more fortunate people feel as though they already possess that human dignity and at the same time feel as if the less fortunate people should, be made to earn that basic right."

The presentation of the awards to the six recipients was made at the Mount Zion Baptist Church in Seattle.

Fleming was nominated by the Rev. Samuel McKinney of the Mount Zion Baptist Church and the Rev. fred Stephens of the First A.M.E. Church.

The certificates for human rights work have been presented by the United Nations Association for the past 10 years. Seattle social and international associations are contacted and asked to make nominations for the award and the selections are based upon the individual's efforts to work for and preserve human rights.

The other recipients of this year's certificates were Mary Carbray, Jean Kim, Marilyn R. Bode, Marlin Appelwick and David Colwell.

TO BE EQUAL

But so long as it restricts itself to handling individual complaints, the walls of segregated housing are likely to remain high.

One way to break down those walls may be to ensure equal access to housing information. So long as individual realtors control the information about houses on the market, that information will be restricted and discrimination will be fostered. Make it public, preferably through federally-subsidized local fair housing councils, and minority access to suburban housing will increase.

Muhammad Ali

"The mind makes dates the body can't keep." That sayng there was true for the Greatest Boxer that ever has lived. Muhammad Ali, this legend has finally come to an end. Even he admits it. This is the man who brought boxing back to what it s today. he has the record of drawing the largest crowds ever for a boxing match. Before his Last Fight December 2, 1981, he could hardly get anyone to promote a fight, let alone get any T.V. Rights. The seats went from $50.00 to $10.00.Take heed to this all of you supposed to be, super stars, you can't be up there forever, old age will catch up with you. Get that Education Partner. Because The mind makes dates the body can't keep.

RACISM IN SPORTS: AN OVERVIEW

Letter to Sports Editor

Discrimination/racism experienced by a person of color can be a combination of covert/overt racism, and economics, as it applies to a player's materialistic worth. In America one's worth in many cases is measured (in terms of what that person is allowed to do) by that persons's social/culture and economic background and status. I was a participant on a private school's football team. I suffered or I should say was the victim of aneconomic/racial mystique. By mystique I mean that these conditions were there, but not recognized. Therefore, the above named entities were acceptable to the degree that they were simply overlooked. For economical and racial reasons I saw white-Anglo-Saxon players ushered in front of myself and other players of color not based upon performance reasons alone. It was because they were Anglo-Saxon and rich or just the former. My performance evaluations were favored with overt particularities (not experienced by the other white players.) The coach, in other words, was very vocal and loud when making evaluatory remarks about my performance and very meticulous when evaluating my performance. Economics and racism can hit a person of color in basically two ways, first, playing time and second, public relations. They were many instances where myself and other players of color could have been played. Instead, more consideration and opportunities were given to (the Anglo-Saxon players on an) unequal scale. Public exposure to the media and professional football sources were virtually nil. In other words, it was highly censused and or suppressed when it came to the minority players that had good to excellent player potential.) In cases, some had the potential, if properly exposed, to possibly pursue a career in professional football. The economics at this private institution I am attending say that if your family is rich and you are the right color then it is to your advantage as a player. There have been too many occasions where just performance factors were not nused as consideration factors for position establishment or playing time. A person's race and culture were, to a large degree, evaluatory factors used to establish a person's position on the team and how much playing time he would get.

How does all this effect myself and others players of color? Well, psychologically speaking (and this is a narrow front) it can effect one's self-esteem, self-worth, ego, culminating into a possible identity crisis.

To say the least, it's a very distastful, discouraging, and frustrating matter. One that can leave deep scares.

Seahawks Hosts Browns

The Seattle Seahawks and Cleveland Browns close out their 1981 National Football League season Sunday in a 1 p.m. contest at the Kingdome.

Both clubs enter the game with 5-10 records.

The Seahawks are coming off a 23-13 loss to the Denver Broncos, while Cleveland was beaten 14-13 by the New York Jets last week.

Despite its record, Cleveland has one on the most potent offenses in the American Football Conference. The Browns rank third among AFC teams in total offense averaging 364.2 yards per game.

"Cleveland is very explosive," says Patera. "Brian Sipe is one of the best quarterbacks in the game. They have outstanding receivers and a solid running game with Mike Pruitt."

Sipe is just 171 yards away from his second consecutive 4,000 yard passing season. He has completed 310 of 561 passes for 3,829 yards with 17 touchdowns and 23 interceptions. The last three weeks, he has completed 63.8 percent by hitting 60 of 94 passes.

Tight end Ozzie Newsome has already set a Browns' single-season receiving record with 68 receptions and needs just nine yards to become only the second Cleveland player in history to gain more than 1,000 yards receiving. Paul Warfield holds the team record with 1,067 yards, while Newsome has 991 yards.

"Newsome is an outstanding tight end," says Patera. "His speed gives them the equivalent of three wide receivers in the game at all times. Although their receptions are down this year, Dave Logan (26 catches) and Reggie Rucker (27 catches) are still quality receivers."

Pruitt sparked Cleveland's 27-3 win over Seattle last year with 116 yards on 24 carries with two touchdowns. He goes into Sunday's game as the third leading rusher in the AFC with 1,052 yards on 238 carries for a 4.4 average with seven touchdowns.

Pruitt has also caught 60 passes for 430 yards and a score. Greg Pruitt also has 60 recetions for 592 yards on three touchdowns.

The Seahawks will counter with a defensive unit that ranks fourth against the pass in the aFC allowing just 188.9 yards per game.

Safety John Harris leads the AFC in interceptions with 10 and defensive end Jacob Green holds the Seahawks club record with 10 sacks this season.

BOYS CLUB

These are the latest happenings at the Al Davies Boys Club: Basketball season has bounced around again and on Dec. 19 there will be a Basketball Jamboree from 10-4.

Starting in January of '82, the gamesroom will be the hot spot where most of the action is. During the month of January there will be movies shown every Tuesday night at 6:00. These movies shown every Tuesday night at 6:00. These movies will consist of Frankenstein Follies, Classic Boxing Highlights, Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman, Grease, Paper Moon and many more.

Bring to boil over direct heat (not using double boiler for this step), stirring constantly. Remove from heat; slowly stir about half the milk mixture into egg yolks. Combine yolk-milk mixture with remaining milk. Set over boiling water, and cook 3 to 4 minutes longer, stirring constantly until mixture is slightly thickened, and coats back of spoon. Transfer to bowl; stir in whipping cream, 2 teaspoons vanilla and orange peel; chill in refrigerator. In a large bowl, beat egg whites with remaining ¼ teaspoon salt and cream of tartar until barely stiff. Gradually beat in 2__3 cup sugar to make a stiff meringue. Fold in remaining teaspoon vanilla. Spoon into lightly butttered 6 to 8 cup star mold set in large backing pan. Place on below-center oven rack. Slowly pour very hot water into baking pan ½ inch from the top of meringue. Water bath will help promote even cooking. Bake in 350 degree oven 30 minutes or until point of sharp knife inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from water and let meringue stand in mold 5 minutes. Loosen edges with small spatula and invert onto serving plate. Cool thoroughly. At serving time, remove cinnamon stick from custard and pour custard souce around mold or cut individual servings of meringue from star; top with custard sauce. Garnish with chocolate curls. Makes 6 servings.
*Chocolate Curls: To make chocolate curls, bring semi-sweet or sweet chocolate to room temperature. Draw vegetable peeler across the surface of chocolate to make curls. If chocolate tends to break instead of curl, rest palm of hand on surface an instant before making each curl.

Making It in Black America

Black involvment is as easy as ABC.

If you want to make friends, develop new interests, share skills—and get things done—join a group. Blacks have been helping each other for a long time through their own organizations. Best known is the 400,000-strong National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Talented women seeking advancement might look into the National Hook Up, which maintains a job bank for corporate, university and government jobs. Or they might join the National Association of University Women, a resource for college graduates interested in education and civic affairs.

Do you want to improve your bridge game? The American Bridge Association runs national and local tournaments. Do you want to start your own business? Contact the Interracial Council for Business Opportunity, whose established professionals advise minority entrepreneurs. Are you an anthropologist, pharmacist, nurse, teacher, musician, accountant or mayor? There's a group dedicated to your specific needs.

Black organizations are an important part of American life. Their variety is apparent in A Guide to Black Organizations, an 80-page listing and description of many of the local and national groups currently operating. The book runs the gamut from A Better Chance, which prepares minority students for leadership roles in society through educational opportunities, to Zeta Beta Sorority, the first American Greek-letter organization to establish a chapter in Africa.

The Guide, published by Philip Morris U.S.A., includes professional, cultural, religious, educational, social and political organizations. There is sure to be one just for you!

The Guide is free. For your copy, write to Philip Morris U.S.A., Public Affairs Department, 100 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10017.

$$$ EDP Auditor $$$

Do you have a results oriented approach to auditing? Are you interested in being involved in the development of our EDP auditing system? Are you interested in working with other internal auditors, data processors and users in system development?

If you answer "yes" to all of the above, and you have a broad background in dp and internal auditing, or 1 to 2 years of EDP experience (knowledge of CULPRIT is a plus), and strong communication skills, send your resume and salary requirements to:
